

ROBERTA JAMIESON

Good morning/Good afternoon! I will be talking to you about one of the greatest first nation's heroes, Roberta Jamieson. Roberta Jamieson was the first, first nation's female to earn a law degree. Roberta Jamieson shows many of the H2 crew value and more. I will be telling you about the three most important traits.

One of the many traits of Roberta Jamieson would be respect. Roberta Jamieson is respectful because she does a lot of charities and has a lot of work but she still makes time to be with her family. That shows that she is respectful because she respects her family by making time for them. Roberta Jamieson also has many other traits.

Another trait that Roberta Jamieson has is caring. Roberta Jamieson is caring because she has many charities across Canada. She also has schools for indigenous kids. This is proof that Roberta Jamieson is caring because she wants to help people.

Roberta Jamieson demonstrates responsibility. She demonstrates responsibility because she has gotten a law degree. Roberta Jamieson also has received many awards. This shows that Roberta Jamieson is responsible because if she wasn't she wouldn't have gotten a law degree and many rewards.

In conclusion, Roberta Jamieson is a great first nation's hero. She has many H2 crew traits. She is caring, respectful and responsible. Thank you for reading/listening to my essay on Roberta Jamieson. -Hannah Robinson
