Math

This week we wrapped up unit 1 whole numbers. The kids took a unit assessment on Tuesday. We kicked off unit 2 on Wednesday. This unit covers multiplication, division, numbers, shapes, and patterns. Please continue to help your kiddos at home on math homework. It's important the kids keep working on their basic math facts. As the year goes on, it's going to be more and more crucial to have them mastered. A letter outlining this unit should've come home on Wednesday.

Science

The kids had a great time learning about energy this week. They investigated dropping a tennis ball down a ramp. We will be backing off science for a little bit. I want to focus in the short term on government in social studies. We have a big election coming up so it seems fitting.

Language Arts

Our unit 2 Empires of the Middle Ages continued this week. The kids learned about the life of lords and serfs. They also read about life in the towns of the middle ages and how they grew. Finally, they learned about manors, towns, and the power of the church during the middle ages. The kids wrote informational paragraphs about lords and serfs. We do have a spelling test Monday and our reading log is due. On Thursday, our vocabulary packet is due. The kids continue to work either in small intervention groups or independently with a classmate to help boost their reading fluency, accuracy, and comprehension.

Social Studies

The kids learned about the legislative branch, judicial branch, and executive branch of government. We even were able to watch a few minutes of the Senate interviewing Supreme Court nominee Amy Coney Barrett. The kids asked some great questions and we had a great discussion.
