Math

Next week we move into lesson 8 on factors and multiples. Be looking for homework coming home a couple nights next week. The kids have also been working on their basic facts each day. Please continue to work on those facts at home for the math log. I'm looking forward to conferences over the next two weeks and to update you on your kiddo's progress in math.

Language Arts

Our unit 2 Empires of the Middle Ages continued this week. We wrapped up our study of Europe in the middle ages. Next week we will spend some time looking at the Islamic Empire during the middle ages. The kids will have a spelling test on Monday and their log is due. Our vocabulary packet will be due on Thursday.

Science

The kids have had a great time learning about energy. We will pick up with energy again next week. We took a little break due to the upcoming election and our government unit. I'm excited to jump back into energy.

Social Studies

The kids have a government quiz on Monday. After that, we will move into our first region study of the year, the northeast region. The kids will be learning about the people, culture, climate, and economy of the northeast. Also, the kids will be learning all 11 states and capitals of the region.
