News: We are excited for snow school today! Because of the the all-day field trip, we will not have spelling this week. Starting in February students will need to record the moon phases nightly for our new earth science unit. I am providing moon observers and calendars. If they are unable to see the moon, they can use the internet to look up the phase for the day. Don't forget kindness month starts this month and students can be kind to themselves this week by wearing pajamas on Tuesday. ❤️ The Bengal Way luncheon is this Wednesday at 11:35 for our four Bengal's of the Month! Have a wonderful week!

Learning this Week:

Science: Earth's spheres quiz,
Lost on the moon

Math: adding & subtracting
decimals

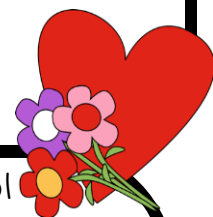

Tech: typing.com

Art: thank you cards

ELA: story maps,
